At 1430 hours and 1700 hours the same day, six U.S. T-28 fighter-bombers in two batches bombed and strafed Muong Kheung town and Lak Un village on the Plaine des Jarres. More than 10 bombs were dropped in the two places causing serious losses of property to the people.

On 2 July, U.S. T-28 fighter bombers in six sorties bombed Ban Ban City, damaging the people's hospital, a rice mill, and the local market. Between 2 and 7 July, U.S. jet aircraft intruded on several occasions into the airspace over Khang Khay City for reconnaissance and harassment.

MAXWELL D. TAYLOR ARRIVES IN SAIGON

Peking NCNA International Service in English 1536 GMT 8 July 1964--W

(Text) Hanoi, 8 July--Maxwell D. Taylor, on his arrival in Saigon yesterday as the new U.S. ambassador to the puppet regime there, called for "vigorous implementation and execution" of U.S. programs for aggression in South Vietnam, according to a Saigon report. The former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff told the press at the airport that his new appointment was to show the "determination" of the U.S. President to secure "victory" in the war in South Vietnam.

Referring to U.S. plans for aggression in South Vietnam, he said: "I feel those programs are sound. They require, however, vigorous implementation and execution. I'm sure in the months to come we will see that vigorous implementation." He made it clear that the United States would give "unstinting support" to the puppet Nguyen Khanh clique. "There is no time limit on that commitment," he said.

As one of the plotters of the aggressive war in South Vietnam, Taylor now feels not so sure of the future of the war, saying that "the road to success is always long." He found it necessary to admit that he cherished no illusions about the tasks facing the United States in the war. He recalled his arrival in Saigon in 1961 as "President Kennedy's representative," but made no reference to the "Staley-Taylor plan," which failed to stamp out the South Vietnamese people's armed forces within 18 months as he plotted.

PLA SHOOTING OF U-2 HAILED AS VICTORY

Lin Piao Commendation Order

The order said: You displayed a fast and coordinated action against the intruding enemy plane and you demonstrated alertness and determination to hit it hard and well. This was another important victory following the shooting down of a P2V plane by the naval air defense unit.

The order added: The victory was gained because you had persistently placed Mao Tse-tung's ideology in command, firmly carried out orders of the military council, were conscientiously well prepared and engaged in intensive training, diligently studied military technique, and extensively carried out the "compare, learn, catch up, and help" campaign, and studied Ko Hsing-fu's method.

The order expressed the hope that the unit will further improve itself, promote the glory of the heroic forces, sum up its experience, strengthen combat training, improve strategy and tactics, continuously maintain a high degree of vigilance, develop find combat style, always be ready to deal blows at any invading enemy aircraft, and strive for new victories.

PEOPLE'S DAILY Editorial

(Full text of the 9 July PEOPLE'S DAILY editorial: "Another Reprimand to the U.S.-Chiang Gang")

(Text) A PLA air force unit on 7 July shot down another U.S.-made U-2 high altitude reconnaissance plane of the Chiang gang over the airspace of a certain place in North China. It was good shooting. All the people warmly hail this great victory and extend hearty greetings and respect to the PLA air force which is vigilantly defending the territorial airspace of our country.

It was the third time that we have shot down a U.S.-Chiang U-2 spy plane. They came uninterruptedly and were shot down uninterruptedly. In the past several years, we have downed nine U.S.-Chiang spy planes of different types, and the shooting down of this U-2 plane makes the total around 10. The 10 U.S.-Chiang spy planes downed included: one RB-57A, one RB-57D, one B-17, three P2V-7s, one RF-101, and three U-2s. This record shows that U.S.-Chiang Kai-shek spy planes of whatever type, coming at whatever altitude and resorting to whatever cunning maneuvers, are doomed to destruction.

During the same period, directed by U.S. imperialism, the Chiang Kai-shek gang has continuously sent armed agents to harass the mainland. Again, they have kept coming, and coming to their doom. Since October 1962, the PLA armymen and civilians have put out of action 33 groups of armed U.S.-Chiang Kai-shek agents, totaling 398 men. Every U.S.-Chiang spy plane downed or every group of their armed agents put out of action represents a blow at U.S. imperialism and the Chiang Kai-shek gang and a punishment to them.

CHICOM REGIONAL AFFAIRS

MAO'S WORKS--The Tibetan-language edition of Volume Four of Mao Tse-tung's selected works was put on sale in Lhasa on 5 July. To help meet the rush in book-buying, Hsieh-jao-teng-chu, vice chairman of the Tibetan Autonomous Region Preparatory Committee, and Chin Sha, deputy propaganda director of the CCP Tibet Work Committee, were at the Lhasa Hsinhua bookstore to assist in the sales. (Peking Domestic Mandarin 1400 GMT 5 July 1964--W)

SOOCHOW CCP COMMITTEE--The CCP committee of Soochow District, Kiangsu, recently held an enlarged meeting to discuss the strengthening of political-ideological work in rural areas. The meeting held the view that the basic tasks of political-ideological work in rural areas are to arm the masses of party members, cadres, and commune members with Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung's thinkings, to correctly implement the party line and policies, to speed up the ideological revolutionization of cadres, and to thoroughly carry out the three major revolutionary movements. In launching political ideological work, cadres and Youth League members must be organized to study Chairman Mao's writings, to promote the socialist education campaign in rural areas, and to take part in the "learn, compare, overtake, and assist" activities. While discussing the methods for launching political-ideological work in rural areas, the meeting called on all party committees at various levels to strengthen their leadership over this task. (Nanking Domestic Mandarin 2245 GMT 1 July 1964--B)

SHANTUNG PEOPLE'S COUNCIL--The 17th session of the Shantung Provincial People's Council was held on 29 June to discuss the cultural and educational work of Shantung Province. The meeting was presided over by Governor Fai Ju-ping. Li Yun-sheng, director of the Education Department, delivered a report on the implementation of party's educational policies, and Deputy Director Chen Ching-chih of the Culture Bureau made a report on art and cultural work in Shantung. (Comrade Ching-heng--phonetic), the deputy director of the Public Health Department spoke on Shantung's patriotic sanitation drive. The meeting also approved the measures governing preferential work days of rural people's communes and the provisional regulations on the strengthening of leadership and management of full-day primary schools in Shantung. Numerous appointments and dismissals of personnel were approved at the meeting. (Text) (Tsinan Domestic Mandarin 1220 GMT 29 June 1964--B)

HONAN PLA UNITS--The Political Department of Honan Military District on 25 June issued a notice calling on all militia organizations at country level throughout the province to assist the rural population in autumn harvesting. The notice calls on all militiamen, especially basic-level militia cadres, to participate in the struggle. The notice points out that the basic-level party organizations and militia cadres must mobilize and organize the masses of militiamen to vigorously support the struggle of autumn harvesting. In organizing the militiamen to support autumn harvesting, efforts must be made to strengthen the ideological work and constantly maintain a firm grip on living ideas of militiamen so as to enable them to establish good examples for the people.
